Destruction of 33,462 Japanese troops on Okinawa—nearly 15 for every American killed—was reported by the Navy today as the Yanks on that important Ryukyu island opened a fresh offensive after crushing a mighty Nipponese counterattack.

Liberation of Davao, last major city of the Philippines taken from the Japanese, was announced by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

On Tarakan, just off Borneo, Australian and Dutch troops fought ahead to seize half the airfield and clear two sectors of Tarakan city.

American army and marine casualties on Okinawa were reported today as 14,283, including 2,337 killed, 11,432 wounded and 514 missing.

Yanks Strike Fast

Three thousand Japanese were killed Friday in a major counter-attack which was thoroughly broken up. The Yanks took advantage of the demoralized enemy by launching a fresh offensive yesterday morning on the central and eastern sectors. By mid-morning the Yank drive still was going.

A tentative plan of the United States army to throw possibly 6,000,000 picked soldiers against Japan was disclosed in Washington Saturday as the hard-pressed Nipponese continued their fierce resistance on Okinawa and Tarakan, Borneo.

Members of the House Military Committee, after a closed session with army chiefs, said the program would be brought into operation with the collapse of Germany. The army officials, stressing that the plan was tentative, declared it was based on their best knowledge of the fighting manpower of Nippon.

Dutch Join Fight

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique late Sunday reported new Allied advances on Tarakan and complete liberation of Davao, major port city in the southeast Philippines.

On Tarakan Australian forces, now aided by Netherlands Indies troops, cleared two districts in southern and eastern Tarakan city and were astride the airstrip.

Smashing against Borneo coastal sectors Allied fliers destroyed 19 small freighters and other craft.

Scattered Japanese forces in Davao were liquidated in sharp fighting and Yank doughboys punched two miles inland.

The Japanese suicide air, sea and land counterattacks on Okinawa Friday, Tokyo time, were viewed by one American commander as the desperate acts of an enemy facing defeat there. Maj. Gen. John R. Hodge, chief of the 24th Corps on Okinawa, said it was easier to kill the Nipponese that way than to dig them out of pillboxes and caves.

Aircraft Plant Bombed

The suicide attacks had these results:

The destruction or pocketing of Japanese landing behind American lines; the sinking of 15 explosive-laden boats; the shooting down of 154 planes and one flying bomb and its pilot, and repulse of a tank-led frontal charge.

Five American light surface units were sunk.

Gen. Sir Thomas P. Blamey, chief of Australian military forces, said the Aussie invasion of Tarakan was proceeding "very well."

Old Row Over Poland
Delays Peace Accord

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

San Francisco, May 5 (AP)—Russia clashed anew with Britain and the United States over Poland today at the very instant of reaching broad agreement on measures intended to strengthen a world organization of United Nations.

The latest row over Poland was disclosed by Secretary of State Stettinius who reported that Russia had arrested "a number of prominent Polish democratic leaders."

Asks No Favors For Suspected Brothers

Washington, May 5 (AP)—Philippine President Sergio Osmena said today he had directed that two of his sons, suspected of dealing with the Japanese, be dealt with "as with the others suspected of such dealings."

At a news conference Osmena denied an earlier report that he had actually ordered the arrest of two, Nicasio, 35, and Sergio, Jr., 28.

He said he understood that no specific charge had been brought against them.

Asked whether he believed them guilty or innocent, he said he simply did not know.

The Osmena brothers were commodity brokers in Manila before the war and their father said he understood that they continued in business after the Japanese occupation.

The island president said he gave his instructions that his sons get no special consideration after learning that they were being detained by the United States army in "a kind of concentration camp."

Earlier, Osmena's office said the two were held in Bilid prison in Manila.

Political Prisoners

Crazed By Hunger
Become Cannibals

London, May 5 (AP)—A war office observer reported today political prisoners caged in a concentration camp at Fandbostel, west of Hamburg, were starved to death by the hundreds in the last weeks before the place was liberated, and cannibalism was practiced.

The observer described the camp as a combined prisoner of war and concentration camp from which 15,000 Allied prisoners of war and more than 7,000 political prisoners of the gestapo were released Thursday by British troops.

The war office spokesman said the hunger-crazed inmates resorted to cannibalism, and that "corpses have several times been seen with the heart and liver cut out." He quoted a British doctor captured in Greece as telling of a young Dutch prisoner who had witnessed acts of cannibalism in the camp.

BY ROMNEY WHEELER

London, Sunday, May 6 (AP)—Russian troops captured the German naval base of Swinemunde yesterday, toppling the last big German Baltic port as Soviet mountain fighters ripped 14 miles across the Nazis' shrinking Czechoslovakian Redoubt and smashed within 12 miles of the arsenal city of Olmuetz (Olmouc).

Some 215 miles west of Swinemunde on the Pomeranian bay, Soviet forces also cleaned out the last square miles of East Prussia after they hurled back enemy forces along the mile-wide Frische Nehrung and reached Danzig territory at Schottland on the narrow sandspit.

V-Bomb Station Taken

Marshal Alexander M. Vassilevsky's Third White Russians were within five miles of the Danzig mainland where a German holdout group was isolated on the Vistula River Delta Plains.

Swinemunde, a city of 20,500 persons situated on Usedom island north of the great port of Stettin, fell to Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's Second White Russian army pressing the final mop-up of the Baltic shores.

Swinemunde's capture was announced in an order of the day issued by Marshal Stalin. At the same time, Rokossovsky's troops cleared all Usedom island, taking the former V-bomb experimental station of Penemunde, and seized the entire adjoining island of Wolin.

Rokossovsky's troops took prisoner 11,700 German officers and men and 55 planes on the two islands, Moscow's nightly war bulletin announced.

Last Stand Bitter

Far to the south, the Germans admitted withdrawals in Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia under Russian blows that were hastening the clean-up of the last sizeable continental battle area.

BY NOLAN NORGARD

Rome, May 5 (AP)—British Eighth army troops sped through Caporetto and crossed the Isonzo River two days ago in their pursuit of demoralized German troops withdrawing into Austria 18 miles beyond, a special communique announced tonight.

Caporetto, scene of an Italian defeat in the first World War, is 42 miles north of captured Trieste at the head of the Adriatic and the British troops were racing along the northwestern edge of the Yugoslav frontier.

Balkan air force planes pounded tattered Nazi columns fleeing out of northern Yugoslavia yesterday, an earlier bulletin disclosed. Beaufighters pumped rockets into enemy ammunition dumps near Ljubljana and Celje in addition to smashing troops and transport less than 15 miles from the Austrian border. Spitfires raked trains between Kranj and Bled and Marauders bombed a rail line south-east of Zagreb, Croat capital.

Referring to the situation at Trieste—a city whose possession is disputed by Italy and Yugoslavia tonight's special communique said that 2,500 troops were taken there by New Zealand troops when the enemy garrison surrendered.

Patriots In Prague
Calling For Help

London, Sunday, May 6 (AP)—Czechoslovak patriots and German occupation troops were engaged in a swaying battle today for control of Prague.

At 4:20 a. m. a speaker on the Prague radio, identifying himself as a liberated British prisoner of war, declared, "We are holding Prague; the whole city is under control, but you, the Allies, must get help here today."

Another speaker, identifying himself as a Red army officer, appealed for Russian aid for the capital, saying "German tanks are surrounding Prague from all sides."

Madrid, May 5 (AP)—Freedom of speech and worship and the right of habeas corpus have been granted Spaniards, the Spanish government announced tonight.

Army To Release
Two Million Men
Within The Year

Washington, May 5 (AP)—The army announced today its V-E redeployment-demobilization plans, including provisions for the discharge of about 2,000,000 men during the next year.

The war department said these are the primary points in its plan: "We believe that a program which gives us an army of 6,968,000 in 12 months from now will provide an adequate force to defeat Japan."

2. About 2,000,000 men will be returned to civilian life during the next 12 months. Of these, about 1,332,000 will be surplus troops and the remainder dischargees for physical and other reasons.

3. About two thirds of the combat units will come through the United States en route to the Pacific and have furloughs. (Informally, it was said the furloughs would run not more than 30 days).

4. The larger proportion of service troops urgently needed in the Pacific will go there directly.

5. Transportation shortages, even with the 800 transport planes being used, will not get the last of the men who are to be discharged back to the United States before 12 months.

Quick Job Wanted
The army's detailed announcement said that the joint chiefs of staff, made up of the commanders of the army, navy and air forces, after consultation with General MacArthur and Admiral Nimitz, had arrived at a preliminary estimate of the troops and equipment needed to crush Japan in the shortest possible time and with the least cost in American lives.

"Our army is now 8,300,000 strong," the war department said. "Under the approved plan we are now engaged in working toward an army strength of 6,968,000 a year from now."

"That will give us all the strength we believe we can deploy effectively against Japan and will also enable us to meet our occupation responsibilities in Europe and to maintain the necessary training and supply force in the United States."

The department said that "every physically fit soldier in the United States who has not yet served overseas will be assigned to foreign duty when he completes his training or, if he is performing an essential administrative or service function, as soon as he can be replaced by a returning veteran."

Draft Calls Continue
The army said the number of troops needed for occupation duty in Europe and the length of time they will be there "will depend on the situation in Europe and the nature of our international commitments."

The planned reduction of 1,300,000 in total army strength, the department said, "will not be sufficient to permit the early discharge of all the men we consider should be returned to civil life" because of extended overseas and combat service.

"Consequently, it is planned to hold selective service calls after V-E day at a level above that necessary to replace men lost through battle and normal attrition and thus make it possible to release more men with a record of long and arduous service. This

BY KATHRYN UMPHREY

Battle Creek, Mich., May 5 (AP)—Over protests of their attorneys at the size of bail demanded, four men accused of conspiring to murder State Senator Warren G. Hooper were ordered held under $25,000 bond each today for examination Friday, May 11.

Justice of the Peace William H. Bibbings set the high bond at the request of Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler of the one-man grand jury investigating legislative graft.

Hooper, who was shot to death in his automobile last Jan. 11, was to have been a witness in graft cases brought by the grand jury.

The four defendants, who demanded examination on their arraignment today, are Harry Fleisher and his brother, Sammy Fleisher, and Myron (Mike) Selk, all identified by state police as former members of Detroit's Purple Gang, and Pete Mahoney, alias Apostolos, Detroit bar operator.

Sigler appeared in justice court in his capacity as special assistant prosecutor of Calhoun county. He has contended Hooper was slain to silence his testimony in grand jury cases.

Today's proceedings were brief. All the defendants through their attorneys asked that the bond be reduced, but Judge Bibbings denied the requests.

Meeting here with western lumber manufacturers, Boyd said restrictions on civilian lumber use would be lifted gradually. Details of the plan probably will be announced by August, he said.

With Germans

BY KAJ SCHOU

Copenhagen, May 5 (AP)—British troops drove into the heart of the Danish capital tonight amid thunderous cheers from happy Danes mixed with sporadic rifle fire from a small nest of over-excited Germans awaiting surrender.

German troops fired on the British and Danish patriot forces after the latter had fired their rifles into the air to celebrate the arrival of the British. The Germans apparently thought they were being attacked.

An undetermined number of persons were killed and wounded in a half-hour skirmish in City Hall Square before order was restored.

Eighteen transport planes circling Copenhagen before landing airborne troops touched off a wild celebration.

Battles were occurring not only in Copenhagen but in provincial towns as Danes staged a great manhunt for collaborators.

Scores of persons have been killed and 2,000 suspected Danish Nazis jailed as the patriots settled occupation grudges amid violent street fighting.

Washington, May 5 (AP)—The War Production Board tonight approved well over $103,000,000 worth of machine tools and plant construction for 72 major industries to break any bottlenecks which would delay reconversion.

The action grants priority aid for the retooling and reequipping job which must be done in advance if the automobile, refrigerator and other industries are to swing into peacetime goods production without long shutdowns and idleness when the reconversion signal finally is given.

CZECH FRONT
UP BY PATTONSURRENDER REPORTS
FROM NORWAY
PREMATURE

BY JAMES M. LONG

Paris, Sunday, May 6 (AP)—Two German armies in Austria, numbering possibly 400,000 men, surrendered to the Americans yesterday while Gen. Patton hurled his U. S. Third army into the attack against the German Seventh army in Czechoslovakia.

Outside Norway, this was the last German army opposing the western Allies.

Patton's attack to spur the Germans to quit or fight, gained up to 12 miles into Czechoslovakia against weak to moderate opposition while Czechoslovakia patriots announced that they had liberated Prague and taken control of Bohemia and Moravia.

Soviets Resisted

Farther east in Czechoslovakia the Germans still were resisting massed Russian forces which were less than 55 miles from Patton's spearheads.

Capitulation in central Austria of the German First and 19th armies to Gen. Devers' Sixth army group came less than 24 hours after similar unconditional surrender of 1,000,000 German soldiers in the north to the British and Canadians.

Despite the surrender, British troops engaged in a brief fight with some resisting Germans as they marched into Copenhagen.

Entry into Holland's great cities awaited the clearing of mine fields, dispatches from the liberated nation said.

Struggle Senseless
Attention focused on occupied Norway, where Fuehrer Karl Doenitz may have taken refuge, but the Swedish foreign office declared officially that reports of imminent surrender in Norway were premature.

An order by Doenitz read over the Flensburg radio before the British occupation said surrender in the northwest had been forced "because the struggle against the western powers has become senseless."

Silent on Norway, Doenitz called on his troops on the Russian front to fight on "to save as many Germans as possible from Bolshevism and enslavement."

SHAEE summed it up by saying all resistance to Eisenhower's armies on the active fronts where his forces were engaged had ended, save for the Seventh German army on Patton's sector.

Even as Patton struck on the Czech front, a Czechoslovak minister in London said the capital of Prague "has risen" and had driven out the Germans in the rear of the enemy's Seventh army.

The surrender in the south covered part of the U. S. Third army front in Austria and here Austria's third city of Linz was occupied by Patton's troops unopposed.

Panzer Division Quits
Whereupon, the Third army went over to the attack on a 110-mile front, driving as much as 17 miles into Czechoslovakia.

Cracking into the Czech's little Maginot line against small arms and sporadic artillery fire, Patton's troops were 22 to 27 miles west of the arsenal city of Pilsen, which in turn is 50 miles west of Prague.

As American tank columns roared across the border they accepted surrender of the 11th panzer division, the last full-strength elite armored force of the German army in all Europe.

The attack rolled east along a procedure of releasing the maximum number of veterans and their return to civil life will permit the call into service of those men who have heretofore been deferred for one reason or another.

At the same time the army will continue to release men because of sickness, wounds, age and other factors that prevent their effective use in service. During the last year discharges for these reasons totaled about 450,000.

Father Veterans First

The army said that with the exception of men released for disabilities, those who will leave service in the next year "will be selected from all parts of the world, the Pacific as well as in Europe, on the basis of impartial standards recommended by the enlisted men themselves." This apparently was in reference to the point credit system announced last year.

"The whole aim of the system that has been developed is to insure that those men who have been overseas longest and have fought hardest and those who have children, get first consideration in demobilization," the department said. "That is the way our soldiers believe it should be and that is the way it will be, subject only to the continuing necessity of keeping in service until adequate replacements can be found those men needed to defeat Japan."

"How soon the men to be demobilized can be brought home will depend on the availability of shipping and air transport after the requirements of the war against Japan are met," the army explained.

The United States must transport to the Pacific vast stores of equipment and supplies both from the continental United States and from Europe. There are about 70 combat divisions in Europe at present exclusive of hundreds of thousands of combat troops assigned to corps and armies and a huge force of supply and service troops.

Enemy Forces Scattered

Discussing the redeployment schedule, the department said this:

"Although we were able to hold to the plan we made for the war against Germany, developments in war are a matter which cannot be mathematically predicted with accuracy. Our best judgement is that we can defeat Japan quickly and completely with an army which a year from now will be 6,968,000. This figure is given to the American people with the assurance that they will be told later on of any changes that the progress of the war makes possible or necessary.

"The Japanese have a military force of more than 4,000,000 men and many millions more men that can be utilized for service forces or for combat, if need be. The numbers we can deploy in the Pacific, with the limitation of shipping and base facilities, would not appear on the face of it sufficient to insure that preponderance which brings victory swiftly and with low casualties.

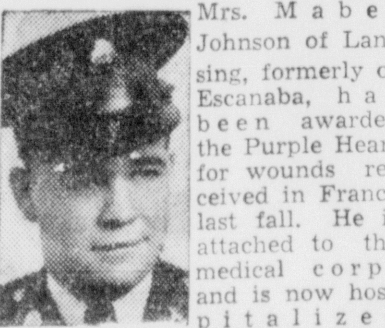

"But the Japanese forces are divided. Some are in the home islands; some in China; some in Manchuria. They have remnants of garrisons in many parts of the Pacific and the East Indies. Our control of the sea and the air makes it possible for us to keep these forces apart and to choose the time and place of our attacks. We have opportunity to strike with overwhelming power as soon as we get our bases established and our armies deployed.

"It is our aim, together with our Allies, to give the men under General MacArthur and Admiral Nimitz all the help we can give them just as rapidly as we can move it into the Pacific."

To kill 20,000 Japanese soldiers on Saipan took 20,000 tons of high explosives not counting the weight of the shell cases.

South of Olmuetz, which must be seized before the Russians can sweep 126 miles to the west to Prague, which according to the Prague radio has been freed by Czech partisans, the Germans continued to put up a bitter struggle near the confluence of the Morava and Brodecka rivers. Marshal Rodion V. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian army tanks and cavalry, however, captured the strategic road junction of Kromeriz, 20 miles southeast of Olmuetz.

Northwest of Olmuetz, Gen. Andrei L. Yeremenko's Fourth Ukrainian army fighters plunged 14 miles across 1,750-foot hills in the Upper Oder River Valley and smashed within 12 miles northeast of Olmuetz by capturing Domstadt (Oomasov). The swift surge threatened to outflank Olmuetz on the north and already had cut its main rail link with enemy forces in German Silesia along the Moravian - German frontier.

Pocket Shrinks

Meanwhile, southwest of ruined Berlin, Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian army rapidly was wiping out the last big German pocket remaining in central Germany.

Zhukov's troops, seizing 2,800 prisoners, reduced the pocket to approximately 510 square miles in advances of 24 miles along a 40-mile front south of Brandenburg.

South of the Danube, the Nazi Wilhelmshaven radio said that Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian army had advanced farther along the Danube's bank from St. Poelten toward Linz, where American forces were 60 miles from Red army spearheads.

At the southern end of the Germans' Southern Redoubt, which was rapidly collapsing, the enemy high command admitted that German forces in northern Yugoslavia were withdrawing westward between the Sava and Drava rivers against the ceaseless attacks of major forces of Marshal Tito's Liberation army. Tito's forces were little more than 40 miles from the Croatian capital of Zagreb.

Famous Paintings Among German Loot Found In Old Mine

BY WES GALLAGHER

With U. S. Ninth Army in Germany, May 5 (AP)—Paintings by such masters as Rembrandt, Van Gogh, and Rubens have been found in a damp copper mine stacked side by side with the bones and solid gold sarcophagus of Emperor Charlemagne.

The discovery was made near the town of Siegen in Westphalia by the 75th Infantry Division. The art treasures, valued at 500,000,000 gold marks (roughly $200,000,000), include Rubens' "Descent To Hades" and "Family Scene"; El Greco's "Cross Carrier"; Rembrandt's last painting, "Self Portrait"; Van Dyck's "Holy Family," and the original manuscript of Beethoven's sixth symphony.

front extending from a point 30 miles northwest of Linz to the city of Asch in Czech's Sudetenland.

Five divisions went over to the attack, and advanced columns were battling both west and southwest of Pilsen.

After Linz fell, the 11th armored and 26th infantry divisions captured a bridge across the Danube, rolled on across and captured the twin city of Urfahr.

Thus the Third army laid bare Czechoslovakia's south flank and paved the way for an early link-up with the Russians fighting through Austria west of Vienna.

Gen. Devers, emerging from the surrender conference near Munich, told correspondents "It's all over on my front."

Firing Ordered Stopped

To avoid unnecessary bloodshed, both the American and German commanders broadcast to their troops to cease firing at once, although the order does not become effective until noon Sunday.

Lt. Gen. Foertsch, commander of the German First army, surrendered army group "G" on orders of its commander, Gen. Friedrich Schulz, and Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, commander of all enemy forces in the south.

Kesselring thereupon found himself in command of only a single army, the Seventh.

Supreme headquarters commenting on the surrender said "So great is the confusion among the enemy that the German officer present at the negotiation... could not give an accurate estimate of the strength of army group 'G.'"

"He believes it numbers between two and four hundred thousand. He reported that the army itself has food for some days but the local population of some two and one-half million is facing starvation conditions."

Devers, Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, commander of the U. S. Seventh army, and other officers met Foertsch in an art museum belonging to a Prof. Thorak, Hitler's favorite sculptor, near Haar, at the eastern outskirts of Munich. Patton and Lt. Gen. Jean De Lattre De Tassigny, commander of the French First army, also had been invited to attend but their planes were grounded by bad weather.

Actually, a front dispatch said, the surrender was but a formality because the Germans were surrendering by the tens of thousands, or wandering around trying to find some one to capture them.

Troops in Italy were rounding up other thousands of Germans who came up to surrender with their guns and other weapons intact.

Seventeen ships—13 Liberty and four cargo ships—have been especially converted to accommodate mules. Each ship is designed to carry from 320 to 699 mules, attesting to the importance of mule power in army transportation.

SURPRISE! NEW ISLAND

Cartagena, Colombia. (AP)—Colombia is bigger than it was, a coastal ship captain reported to hydrographic officers. A new islet, about the size of a large whale, appeared off the Caribbean coast in a 15-day period between his voyages, he said. It's near the coast between the ports of San Juan and Zapata.

MANY EXPECT ANOTHER WAR

Poll Shows Majority Of People See Peace As Temporary

Denver, (P)—Six out of ten Americans believe this nation will have to fight another war within 50 years, and more than half of these expect it within 25 years, the national opinion research center of the University of Denver reported today.

The report was based on confidential interviews with 2,504 persons in all walks of life from all parts of the nation. The center claims its polls are 97 per cent accurate.

Residents of the Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain states were most pessimistic, 70 per cent expecting another war in a half-century. The percentage was 63 per cent in the Midwest, 56 per cent in the South, 25 per cent in New England and Middle Atlantic states.

Easter Seal Sale

Receipts $1,508

The sale of Easter Seals in Delta county brought a total of $1,508 which will be used to assist crippled children, it was announced yesterday by James Degnan, crippled children's committee chairman.

The appeal to purchase Easter Seals and assist in the program for the care and treatment of crippled children was conducted by mail, and the public response was generous, the chairman said. Contributions in total were above those for last year.

The committee in charge of the Easter Seal sale campaign expressed its appreciation to all those in the county who purchased seals, or who otherwise assisted in making the drive a success.

Erection Of Water Tank Starts Soon

Materials needed in the construction of a 500,000 gallon elevated water storage tank as a part of the city's water system are arriving and erection of the tank by the Chicago Bridge and Iron company is expected to start soon, City Manager A. V. Aronson said yesterday.

Two shipments of paint have arrived, steel and other materials are expected soon, and company representatives will be here shortly to start the construction. A large derrick will be used in the erection of the tower and tank.

City workmen have completed work on nine footings on which the tank supports will rest. The footings are of concrete, the center one nine feet square, and the others six feet.

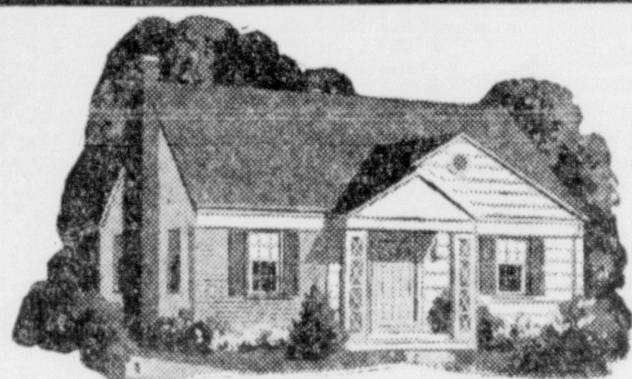

The city is also progressing with the construction of a fireproof concrete block storage building seven feet wide and 30 feet long at the Solar Manufacturing company plant. Most of the blocks are those manufactured in a city-sponsored WPA project several years ago. The building was required to be built to store highly inflammable painting lacquer.

Supermen Run Away

MYSTERY shrouds the whereabouts of the one-time big shots of the Nazi party as the German generals surrender their troops piecemeal in various parts of the Reich. One thing is apparent. The Nazi supermen are taking it on the "lam," leaving the ordinary people to endure the hard work of rebuilding the homes and industries that were destroyed by Hitler's folly. Escape of the leading Nazi war criminals should not cause much chagrin for the time being. They will not be able to go far or live very long to enjoy their liberty. In the meantime, what are the German people thinking of their heroic supermen, who are running away from their responsibilities merely to save their own hides and what wealth they can carry away? The Nazi leaders are being revealed as the cowards they are. There is nothing about their last dying moments that will inspire great Nordic legends, which will perpetuate the names of Hitler and his henchmen in the Germans' fond memories. More likely, future generations in Germany will remember the Nazis as the murderers and thieves who brought them only many years of woe.

V-E Day Plans

PLANS for the observance of V-E day, which were arranged on somewhat elaborate scale last fall when victory appeared to be near at hand, have been considerably curtailed by various communities of late. Several factors have been involved in the revision of plans. First of all, the conquest of the Axis armies in Europe has been a long drawn-out affair, and there is greater realization now that the fighting and slaughter will be far from over after the last German lays down his arms. There is still the big war in the Pacific against the fanatical Japanese. In Escanaba, it has been decided that if V-E day is proclaimed before 5:30 p. m. business will be suspended for the remainder of the day. If the joyous tidings come after that time, the event will be observed the following day. In the rural communities, plans have been made to hold patriotic exercises at the schools and churches on V-E day. There is the probability, however, that President Truman will call upon the American people to refrain from riotous celebration, observe the day in quiet thanksgiving and resume the production of much-needed war materials with a minimum of delay. There is justification, of course, for celebration by the men of the armed forces in Europe, but it is well for civilians at home to ponder over the fact that men will be still dying on the battlefields of China, Okinawa and other islands of the Pacific.

A Significant Observance

SUNDAY, May 20, has been designated as "I Am An American Day" throughout the country, a day on which all Americans may honor those who have come to our shores and become naturalized citizens of the United States. It is also a day on which native-born American citizens may reaffirm their allegiance. During the past year, 366,000 foreign-born men and women became naturalized. While the flow of immigration has been restricted in recent years, America's rapid industrial, commercial and agricultural development was due in no small measure to the millions of aliens who came from Europe before the turn of the century. They brought to this country their music, art, literature and other culture that have helped make America great in many ways. In this war, the Cohens, Petersens, Urbanskis and many others with foreign names, have fought by side for the preservation of freedom and democracy. They are Americans all. In 1939, about two hundred communities conducted ceremonies honoring newly naturalized citizens and native-born citizens who had reached their majority, and by last year the list had been increased to nearly 800 communities. There should be many more joining in the observance on May 20 of this year, for appreciation of the privileges of American citizenship grows day by day.

No Draft Cuts Yet

THERE were two significant developments in the military draft situation Friday. One was President Truman's veto of a bill to give outright exemptions to farm workers and the other was the disclosure by Gen. Marshall that no draft reduction can be expected for at least three months, even with the surrender in Germany. The farm lobby was on the wrong course in demanding rigid exemption for every farm worker of draft age and President Truman recognized this in his veto of the bill. The president insisted that draft deferments for farm workers be continued on the basis of the merits of each individual case, just as deferment for other industrial workers are determined. Under the selective service law, local draft boards are given broad powers to determine the classification of its registrants. The system has worked out well in general. There is no sound reason why the system should be revised to establish iron-clad deferment for farm workers. This policy undoubtedly would cause injustices and, of course, it would be entirely un-American. The decision to maintain large induction quotas under the draft system even after V-E day is in recognition of the tremendous job still facing us in the Pacific. The Japs have indicated that in many ways they will be an even tougher foe than the Germans have been. This means, naturally, that we must be prepared for any eventuality and if that means continuance of a huge army, we shall have to reconcile ourselves to that, too.

Unwise Censorship

THE Detroit police department has assumed the role of censor in deciding what news reel pictures the movie-going public should be permitted to see. Although the movies had been released by the war department, Detroit police censors ordered a theatre to delete scenes of punishment being administered to Nazis in Lublin, Poland, where the Germans committed some of their worst atrocities. From every standpoint, it is better to show the civilian public the real horrors of war. First of all, there are still some people who are skeptical of the reports of Nazi brutality in concentration camps. Pictures in newspapers, magazines and theatres can help to convince them, so that they will not be inclined to succumb to Germany's wily pleas for a soft peace. It will be recalled that Adolf Hitler banned the literary works of writers who gave a realistic portrayal of war. The Fuehrer wanted the Germans to think it all was glamour and glory so that they would gladly follow him on the road to destruction. There is nothing to be gained by the censorship of movies, books and other publications that endeavor to give a true picture of the results of modern warfare. Instead, the truth can help to prolong the peace.

Other Editorial Comments

ERNIE'S VALEDICTORY

(Detroit Free Press)

The last column Ernie Pyle wrote before his death on the island of Ie appears in this issue. He did not know that it was to be his valedictory to a world that he loved for its people and to a war that he loathed for its horrors. This last dispatch is typical of the beloved little man. It is a tribute to a departed friend who had seen war close up, as he had. But it is more than simply a farewell to a colleague. As with innumerable Pyle dispatches it transcends its immediate subject. Correspondent Frederick Paulton's death, though from natural causes, was still death. It was close to Ernie's heart never to let his millions of readers forget either this grisly co-tenant with fighting men, of battlefields around the earth, or any of the other awful fears. "The war and the weariness of war is cumulative," Ernie's finale declares. "To many a man in the line today fear is not so much of death itself, but fear of the terror and anguish and utter horror that precedes death in battle." The record ends. Brave as any man of the thousands he wrote about, Ernie Pyle's last "30" has been filed. But as long as men ponder the record of this war, they will read his brilliantly lucid columns—his "letters to the folks back home about their sons. They tell phases of the conflict no one else told as well. Neither he nor the great work he did will be forgotten.

DOESN'T GO FAR ENOUGH

(From the Muskegon Chronicle.)

The order of the Michigan liquor control commission ordering all liquor places to discontinue serving unescorted women at bars after 8 p. m. is a step in the right direction. The difficulty is that the order does not go far enough. Earlier reports were that the state would prohibit the serving of all unescorted women, whether at the bars or at tables after 8 p. m. But under the order as issued unescorted women at tables can be served. If the state desires to eliminate unwholesome conditions in the drinking places it should have gone through with the order prohibiting sales to all unescorted women.

SUNDAY SCRIMMAGE

Washington: Please explain and pronounce the word migraine.—V. A. F.
Answer: Migraine is a French loan-word. Strictly speaking it designates a severe headache on one side of the head only. But the word is used often in the general meaning of any sick headache. The customary American pronunciation is: MY-grain.
Los Angeles: An ex-teacher in our office insists that in dividing a word at the end of a line, the carry-over must never begin with a vowel. For example, president must be divided "pres-i-dent," and never "pres-ident." Is there such a rule?—M. O'S.
Answer: There is no such rule that I know of. Words may be divided according to the way they are syllabified in the dictionary. Pres-i-dent may be divided either "pres-ident" or "pres-i-dent." In fact, if you will refer your associate to the last two pages in the first (left-hand) column on page 1956 of Webster's New International,

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

This is the way the Nazis' world ends—not with a bang, but a whimper. The structure of Nazism was weaker than anyone had suspected. What is amazing is that the Prussian military did not succeed long before this in effecting the mass surrenders that are now taking place.

Ever since the success of the Normandy invasion, they have known that victory was no longer possible. After Stalingrad they knew that the most to be hoped for was a stalemate, with the remote possibility of splitting the allies.

That was why General Walter Von Seydlitz, captured at Stalingrad, a typical representative of the Junker Military Caste, could bring himself to go on the radio at Moscow and urge the German people to overthrow the Nazis and surrender. Von Seydlitz knew that, every day the war continued—and particularly the air war—German power was being destroyed that much more.

—WANTED TO SURRENDER—

I have talked with Americans who were permitted by the Russians to interview Von Seydlitz in a prison camp in Moscow. He talked freely, and they came away convinced that he was under no coercion in making his broadcast appeals to the Reich. When he was captured last week, Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar, military commentator for the German general staff, gave the same kind of evidence. He said that, if only the July plot against Hitler's life had not failed, then surrender would have been possible last summer or certainly early in the fall.

But why did these professional military men want to surrender? It is important to ask that question now. Certainly it was not out of any humanitarian motive, with the desire of ending the slaughter and the suffering. These professionals are conditioned by breeding, back-ground and experience to override any vestige of human compassion that may have survived.

The reason they wanted to surrender was to preserve Germany's strength for future wars; to preserve her future war-making potential. It was these same professionals, men of the type of Von Seydlitz, Kesselring and Von Rundstedt, who began immediately after the defeat of 1918 to plot the next war.

That other defeat was in the Prussian tradition. It was a recognition that any further resistance was not merely futile, but would impair the capacity of the Reich to strike again. It left Germany's productive capacity almost untouched.

—PRUSSAINS USED HITLER—

These Prussian professionals were perfectly willing to use Hitler when he came along. The fanatical Austrian was a useful tool in helping them to rearm the Reich. He was able to inflame a dispirited and confused people with a new zeal for conquest. He helped to spread the myth that treachery at home, rather than military disaster, caused the 1918 downfall.

Hitler knew all along, of course, that these men intended to use him. He built up his own armed force—the Gestapo and the Waffen SS—and his own instruments of terror and torture. In the end he seems to have held the power, forcing decisions that upset the plans of the general staff. If there is anyone left in Germany to tell it, that will be one of the fascinating stories to come out of the debacle—the conflict between the Nazis and the professional soldiers.

But all this suggests another and more important question. What is to happen to these professionals, these Prussian generals and admirals, who surrender?

They are the real criminals. Their crimes were cold-blooded and calculated. They knew how to exploit psychopaths such as Hitler for their own ends.

Surely, they are not absolved by this last-minute surrender. It is true, of course, that we have saved precious lives and precious time by the mind of mass surrender that occurred in Italy. But if we promised immunity to the general staff, the price might be almost too high, since it could mean another war in another generation.

In naming Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson to be chief counsel for the United States in preparing the war crimes cases, President Truman has bridged, in part at least, a gap in our German policy. It is an excellent appointment. Justice Jackson will not mistake the shadow for the substance.

The dead Hitler is the shadow. These professionals, perpetually plotting war, are the substance.

she will see president divided thus: president.

Charleston: In speaking of the latter part of the day, I always say "eve-ning" instead of "e-ven-ing." Is that bad?—De W. G.

Answer: No, it's correct. Evening, the time of day, is: EEV-ning. On the other hand, the verbal noun evening, "act of making even," is a three-syllable word, pronounced: EE-ven-ing.

Sharon: What is the origin of the term "grass widow"?—G. C.

Answer: It is from the German word stroh-widwe, "straw widow."

Mrs. W. A. R., of Phoenix, submits this item as the typewhopper of the week: "Wingfoot Homes, a subsidiary of the vast Goodyear organization, ex-fifties of ieht-rum-noeht. Among its features is a built-in shower path." Ah, those postwar homes! As the little-girl-next-door always says, I hardly can't wait.

Good Morning!

—By The Bugler—

VICTORY GARDENS—Escanaba is becoming more and more a "city of gardens" due to the wartime need for food and the encouragement offered by the city government.

That planting and maintaining a garden is the patriotic thing to do has been known to the people of the nation since the start of the war.

Yet there are all too many Escanaba residents who find one or more excuses why they should occupy their leisure time in other ways than helping feed themselves. It is these same people, unfortunately, who expect to find local markets well stocked with food of all kinds. And when they don't, they complain against the government's rationing program, or just generalize about "bureaucratic bungling."

DON'T BUNGLE—The government is asking all of us to grow a vegetable garden. That appeal does not sound like a government that wants us dependent on hand-outs. If we do not grow a garden then it is ourselves who could be accused of "bungling." And we could be described also as among those who must lean on others for support.

BE INDEPENDENT—Most gardeners are too busy, at least during the growing season, to bother much about other people's problems. They are concerned over cabbage plants and cut worms, tomatoes and fertilizer, carrots and cauliflower—no whether the meat packers are fighting OPA.

As an individual you personally can do much toward making yourself independent. For the good gardener there are few shortages, and he and his family are better fed than the non-gardener.

BIG PROGRAM—The extent of the victory garden program in Escanaba can best be realized by recounting just a few statistics that are available. These statistics were presented to the Escanaba city council the other night by City Forester Robert Clayton, who is also city victory garden chairman.

The city council was surprised, as you will be, at the scope of the gardening program on which figures are available.

The city plows and prepares 19 1-2 acres of ground in six areas in the city for gardeners who have no back yard of their own, or want additional space.

Last year a total of 198 gardeners planted and maintained 198 plots of ground that made up the 19 1-2 acres.

Largest of these garden plots is at South Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street. There are seven acres in this area and 125 gardeners had plots there. At that site the city supplies free water for the gardeners.

OTHER GARDEN SITES—Last year seven gardeners had plots at Royce Park, where Mrs. John Luecke volunteered to supervise for the city. Back of the Blue Roof cabins is a 2 1-2 acre area where 14 persons planted gardens. Incidentally, there was an old 'depression days' garden site there in the unhappy '30's.

Near the Gordon nursery west of the city 23 persons grew vegetables on five acres of land, and near the disposal plant 15 gardeners planted 2 1-2 acres of land. At the Gordon nursery site Walter Nelson assists in supervising the gardens, and disposal plant employees lay out the plots at the site.

There are also E. A. "Pip" Wenner, county agricultural agent, at hand to assist you when you have troubles. Through his office gardeners are advised on seed varieties right for this climate, get information on soil preparation and planting, pest control and harvesting.

Available at his office, in booklets from Michigan State College, are helpful hints on how to store, dry, can and preserve those fruits and vegetables which will be the reward of your labors. Some folks may think raising part of their own food is tough—but it's tougher when there isn't enough food to go around.

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1935

London—The silver jubilee marking the 25-year reign of King George and Queen Mary was celebrated yesterday with mingled prayers and merry-making.

At a lovely home wedding Monday, Miss Elizabeth Anthony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Anthony, Lake Shore Drive, became the bride of George Donnelly of Chicago.

Miss Virginia Goodman, who is attending Northern State Teachers' College at Marquette, visited over the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Goodman of Gladstone.

Manistique—Mrs. Russell Leonard, Mrs. George Leonard, Miss Mary McLellan and Miss Ethel Louise Hudson attended the Music Festival held in Escanaba.

THE COST—Joe Holmes of the city street department takes care of plowing and discing the garden sites, so that gardeners have to do little more than the final ground preparation before planting.

The cost to the city last year in sponsoring the victory garden program was $700. The council seemed to think the cost was fair enough, considering it was done for a patriotic cause. But it also thought that perhaps in the future gardeners might be asked to pay a slight fee ($1 a year was mentioned) for the many services the city provides.

And there is also E. A. "Pip" Wenner, county agricultural agent, at hand to assist you when you have troubles. Through his office gardeners are advised on seed varieties right for this climate, get information on soil preparation and planting, pest control and harvesting.

Available at his office, in booklets from Michigan State College, are helpful hints on how to store, dry, can and preserve those fruits and vegetables which will be the reward of your labors. The Lyons Den

—By Leonard Lyons—

MAJ. GEN. JAMES A. ULIO, the Adjutant-General of the United States Army, was in the Barbary Room last night and discussed his odd name. His father was born in Belfast, came to this country and enlisted in the Army where he rose to the rank of major. One day a lieutenant reported to Maj. Ulio and introduced himself. "I'm Ulio, Ulio," the major replied. The lieutenant seemed puzzled, and the major repeated "Ulio, Ulio." "I beg your pardon, major," the lieutenant said, apologetically, "but I still didn't catch the name." "Ulio," said the major. "How do you spell it, sir?" asked the lieutenant. "You don't spell it," said Major Ulio. "You whistle it."

San Francisco—There is an important parallel to be drawn between San Francisco and Versailles. It may have repercussions that will effect the future peace of the world.

At the Versailles peace conference, Woodrow Wilson lost out to other members of the Big Four on point after point. He had to compromise on Jugoslavia, on Italy, on various boundary questions. Most of all he had to sign a treaty of alliance with France and England in order to get his League of Nations accepted.

The American public felt Wilson had yielded too much. At that time we were just feeling our oats internationally. We felt that the American army had really won the war—though some of our Allies disagreed. The great middle west was convinced that if Europe didn't want to play ball with us, we could thumb our noses at Europe and get along perfectly well in our own.

That view eventually was reflected in the senate's rejection of Woodrow Wilson's treaty and another war became inevitable. Today, Soviet Russia occupies very much the same spot as the United States in 1919 and 1920.

The Soviet today has the greatest resources in the world. It is more self-sufficient than any other nation. It feels that its armies bore the major burden of this war—though some of their Allies disagree. The leaders of Russia, especially the generals, are reported believing that the Soviet can get along on its own without the rest of the world, if the outside world doesn't want to play ball.

In fact the Russians today are the potential isolationists of 1919 and 1920.

Meanwhile, their Woodrow Wilson of San Francisco—Foreign Minister Molotov—has been turned down on points. Some of his points have seemed poorly conceived and out of place and he has not always handled himself diplomatically. But the effect of Russian public opinion is the main thing that counts, the effect which is registered on the potential isolationists of this new peace era.

And that effect obviously must be bad. Just as the American public in 1919 saw their representative rebuffed at Versailles, so the Russians see their man rebuffed at San Francisco. They don't remember the Molotov victories, only the rebuffs. And that is why when the final history of this peace era is written, the vote against Molotov on Argentina may be the straw that broke the back of Russian world cooperation. Molotov only asked for four days to think over the question of Argentine admission. His pleas probably would have the support of two great figures, one dead, one ill—Franklin Roosevelt and Cordell Hull—both vigorously opposed to Fascist Argentina.

Four days to consider the Argentine question was not much to ask, and yet Secretary of State Stettinius missed the cue to make a gesture toward Russia. Molotov made his plea for a delay on Argentina in the best Democratic tradition. In open plenary session, in the rough and tumble of American Democratic debate. In the end, Argentina would have been admitted anyway, but the delay would have helped Russian opinion at home. This small point may turn out one of the most important at the conference.

For, if the Russians find themselves outvoted too frequently and too overwhelmingly, they may do what the U. S. Senate did to Woodrow Wilson. And a peace organization without Russia, like a League of Nations without the United States, would mean another world war unquestionably.

—OSMENA NO SOFT-PEACE TALKER—

Those who talk about a soft peace for Germany and wink at American branch banks who did business with the Germans in Paris might look over the record of President Sergio Osmena of the Philippines.

President Osmena feels so strongly about anyone who cooperated with the enemy that he has even thrown two of his sons, Nicasio and Sergio Jr., in Bilbilid jail to await trial as collaborators.

Long before the Leyte landings last October, President Osmena had received reports from guerrilla leaders that his two boys were collaborating with the enemy in Luzon.

When General MacArthur's forces landed on Luzon, Nicasio identified himself as the president's son. Nicasio was lavish in his praise for the returning U. S. forces, violently denouncing the Japanese.

Three days later President Osmena arrived in Manila. He ordered, among other suspects that two of his sons, Nicasio and Sergio Jr., be jailed. Nicasio feigned illness and military authorities removed him to a private home under protective custody. His special privileges didn't last long. As soon as the report reached the president, Nicasio went back to prison. He and his brother will be tried by jury with the rest of the accused collaborators and punished accordingly.

Two other sons of the president, however, had distinguished themselves. Dr. Emilio Osmena was surgeon of the guerrilla forces in Cebu during enemy occupation. Captured by the Japanese, he was shot when he refused to divulge information on the strength and location of his guerrilla colleagues. Another son, Jose, was also murdered by the Japanese for aiding the guerrillas.

TIE UNLOADER IS DEVELOPED

Offsets Labor Shortage At Wood Treating Plants

Because of the growing shortage of manpower, the unloading of railroad cross-ties at the treating plants has been the subject of intense study by the operators of practically all wood preserving plants for the past two or three years.

For more than 50 years, it has been the universal custom to ship cross-ties to these plants in box cars. The seaming yards vary in size from five to perhaps 50 acres, in which railroad tracks are laid parallel on about 120-foot centers. The ties have been unloaded by manual labor and stacked along side tracks for air-seasoning.

Obviously, the ties must be carried a distance varying from 10 to 60 feet. This work has been done by "tie carriers", usually on a piece-work basis, and although ties weigh from 200 to 300 pounds each, these workers usually carry them, one man to each tie.

Mechanical Unloading
An important step in the solution of this problem, and in the lightening of the physical work required, was taken last year at the East Point, Ga., plant of the Southern Wood Preserving company, by the development and installation of the mechanical tie unloader.

At East Point, as at practically all other cross tie treating plants, the shortage of cross-tie carriers was extremely acute. Locomotive cranes were pressed into service to handle the ties from box cars to seasoning stacks. However, the task of moving the ties to the box car door and arranging them in groups suitable for the crane to handle them to seasoning racks is a slow and laborious one.

It was to relieve this situation that the new mechanical unloader was built, and, having amply proved its utility in removing the ties from incoming box cars, a similar machine, with slight modifications, is now being built at the Atlanta, Ga., plant of the Link-Belt company.

Handles Five at a Time
The tie handling mechanism is electrically operated, being mounted on a horizontal steel boom which is pivotally supported on a steel frame resting on concrete foundation at one side of unloading track. The boom is long enough to reach either end of the car and is racked back and forward on roller bearings by an electric motor drive.

A separate electric motor, mounted on outer end of boom, operates a rope drum to which is connected a steel hoisting cable extending out over a sheave at front end of boom to a multiple cross tie hook or grapple. This grapple is designed to pick up a group of ties at a time and release them automatically when they have been deposited in their proper place. Five ties, weighing about 1500 pounds, are handled by the machine.

Escanaba Eagles To Welcome Grand President Tuesday

JOHN W. YOUNG

About 200 members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles from Escanaba and representatives of other aeries in the U. P. will welcome John W. Young, grand worthy president of the grand aerie, Kansas City, Mo., at an Eagles initiation banquet Tuesday evening at the Sherman hotel.

The program for the 6:30 o'clock banquet was announced yesterday by Werner Olson, secretary of the local aerie. Art Servant of Escanaba will be toastmaster at the banquet, and the program will open with invocation by the Rev. Fr. Anderson of Rapid River. Dinner will be served following a salute to the flag. Entertainment during the banquet will include songs by Luddy and Mary Ellen Servant. Guests and officers of the Eagles will be presented.

The national president of the Communication

Our Recreational Program May 5, 1945.

Dear Editor:-

I had to chuckle when I read the editorial which appeared in Wednesday morning's Press concerning the Youth Center in Escanaba.

I wonder why it is necessary to knock one phase of a program in order to add another activity. It was stated that the recreational program was lagging in the absence of a full time Recreational Director. I would like to state some of the facts about our program since we have been without a full time director.

order will be the principal speaker at the dinner meeting.

Following the banquet the members will adjourn to Eagles hall where a business meeting will be held at 8 o'clock. Included in the business is the initiation of new members.

Grand Worthy President Young was born at Hanover, Pa., and is a business man and civic leader in that city. He was elected national president in August, 1944.

At the age of 15 Young stopped school attendance to work in the coal mines. From then, working as errand boy, pick and shovel man, construction foreman, owner of one of Hanover's finest stores, he traveled the long hard road to recognition and success.

He became York county registrar of deeds, and is now head of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, an organization with a membership of 830,000.

He joined the Hanover aerie 28 years ago, served as president of that aerie and of the state aerie, as a member of the national board of trustees, and last year as vice president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

His hobby is a rather unusual one, the raising of thoroughbreds, from colthood to high-powered racers.

Our indoor rink was supervised by the Figure Skating Club and they did a very fine job. I dare say the attendance was as good if not better than any other season, I am sure that no one can deny that our winter carnival was one of the best we have ever had.

Much credit belongs to people who volunteered their time, but the program did not lag at the indoor rink.

The attendance on our outdoor rinks was as good as ever and the supervision was the same as other years. The ski park has been used as much as ever, and proper supervision was maintained.

I had no part in the supervision of the above activities, however I have kept in close touch with them and there was no lagging at any time.

The city Recreation Center of which I had charge had a larger attendance than any other year since its operation began.

More adults have taken part in activities the past winter than ever before, and many have expressed a desire to continue the activities through the summer months. There was no lagging there, I assure you.

No one has worked harder than I have to establish activities suitable to our young folks, and I am still willing to do everything I can to assist in setting up a youth center if that is what the young people want. But I think we should be sure that is the thing they really want. A few years ago the Elks Club in cooperation with the city conducted dances for the young people in their hall. An orchestra was provided and dancing was free for all. It was very popular for a while, but the young folks soon decided that was not what they wanted and went elsewhere.

The city also conducted dances at the Recreation Center for the young folks, but it soon became only a meeting place to go elsewhere. I admit that our present center is not as nice as it could be, but it is one of the best in the Upper Peninsula and the city spends more money for recreation than most cities of its size.

I have consented to organize and direct the program only until a director can be secured as I have other interests that demand all of my time. I am writing this only because I think it fair to the people who so generously gave their time to keep the program going as before in the absence of a director. I am sure that any one who has observed the recreation program in Escanaba for the past six months will say that there has been no lagging anywhere.

Thank you,
Mrs. Zania M. Rivers.

Early Escanaba Days

State of Superior Proposed Back in 1885

—BY JOHN P. NORTON—

Delta county was not represented when the first peninsula-wide organization, comparable to the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau of today, was launched by forward looking citizens of this section of the state, at Ishpeming, on Oct. 13, 1885. Neither was this county represented at a preliminary meeting held at Marquette in June of the same year, in spite of the determined urging of Col. J. C. VanDuser, publisher of the Escanaba Iron Port.

When the final meeting was called to order at Ishpeming in the fall of 1885, Gov. Russell A. Alger graced the gathering with his presence, together with the congressman from this district, Hon. Seth Moffatt, of Traverse City. The prime mover in calling the peninsula-wide meeting and presiding officer of the convention was Hon. W. H. Seymour of Chippewa county.

First mention of the proposed peninsula wide gathering was made in the newspapers of the upper peninsula early in January, 1885, as the result of a call issued by Mr. Seymour of Sault Ste. Marie.

Suggested New State
When the purposes of the meeting were first discussed the creation of the State of Superior from the counties of the peninsula, was high in the agenda planned for the session, but when the convention was finally held that subject was not even mentioned.

When the convention was called to order the counties of Delta, Alger, Scholcraft and Ontonagon were not represented, but the interest in the gathering had spread beyond the confines of the peninsula and Ashland and Bayfield counties, in Wisconsin and the city of Duluth were represented when the roll was called.

Chief interest of the meeting was centered in a resolution that demanded the immediate deepening of the Hay Lake channel and the construction of a new lock at the Soo. After prolonged discussion that resolution was adopted as follows: Resolved that the immediate improvement of the Hay Lake channel of St. Mary's river and the construction of a new lock, both to a depth of 21 feet, as recommended by Col. Poe of the U. S. Engineers Corps, are of utmost importance to the commerce of the northwest and our senators and representatives in congress are requested to urge special legislation to secure that result.

Rehabilitation of Disabled Problem, Sheehan Tells Club

Cpl. Ralph Sheehan, Marquette, a director of Lions International, gave the Gladstone Lions club some ideas as to postwar projects which service clubs in general could well afford to adopt.

They dealt with the rehabilitation of soldiers who have suffered the loss of arms or legs in this war. Cpl. Sheehan, who incidentally heads the education division of Michigan state police in the Upper Peninsula, recently went through Percy Jones hospital at Battle Creek where there are 11,000 soldiers who have lost some member and he said that one almost had to see it to understand the enormous problem faced in giving those men back their self confidence and finding a place for them in civilian life.

John Mathy was program chairman.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dearly beloved daughter and sister, Darlene, who was taken from our family circle May 6, 1940.

A ray of sunshine
Has gone from our home,
And a place is vacant today.
And the little girl
That we loved so well
Seems so very far away.
But we're trying to live
Just day by day,
Trusting the Father for light—
Knowing that some day
She'll be with us again
In the Home in the City of Light.

Purple Gang Rivalled Al Capone In Dry Era

Detroit—(AP)—Charges that former Purple gangsters plotted the killing of State Senator Warren G. Hooper brought echoes this week of the roaring twenties, an era of organized, violent crime.

That was Michigan in prohibition days—gangland executions which cut down victims on highways, streets or in apartments; gang wars over the profits from illicit distilleries; tribute extorted from legitimate small businesses for the right to operate without molestation.

Blocked Al Capone
That was the heyday of the Purple Gang, so powerful that it once rebuffed an attempt by Al Capone to move in on the Detroit area.

Records of the federal alcohol tax unit, charged with enforcing the laws against non-tax-paid spirits, tell what happened:

"Capone was forced to leave Detroit without obtaining a foothold in this city by the Purple Gang who XX told him that this territory was to be controlled only by the Purples. He then made the Purple Gang his agents in obtaining illicit liquor smuggled from Canada and a guarantee of safe convey to Chicago."

The gang faded with repeal of prohibition and the constant activity of federal agents in trapping those engaged in illegal activity.

Now state police have identified three of four men accused of conspiring to kill Senator Hooper as former members of the gang. They are Harry Fleisher and his brother Sammy Fleisher, and Myron (Mike) Selik, Detroit bar operator.

Hooper Shot Jan. 11

Hooper was shot to death in his automobile on a Jackson county road as he was enroute from Lansing to his Albion home last Jan. 11. Police investigators have said there were indications of "a paid killing in which large sums of money passed hands."

When a Calhoun county conspiracy warrant was issued naming the Fleishers and Selik, it recalled the turbulent history of the Purple Gang.

Origin of the gang's name has two explanations. One says it started as a group of toughs who called themselves the Coo Coo Gang, that this grew into the Oakland sugar house gang, and that a man named Sam Purple took over the leadership. Another variation says the youngsters broke into stores, robbed drunks, and stole fruit, and that one day a fruit stand peddler said to a cop:

"They're tainted, those boys. Their characters are discolored. They're purple."

Whichever version is true, the gang got its start in the early days of prohibition with the formation of the Oakland sugar house gang. They sold sugar to the operators of moonshine stills and gradually took over the business.

Harry Fleisher who was a driver for the old sugar house gang, became a big shot with the mob, his name appearing on the police records 35 times on charges ranging from robbery, extortion and kidnapping to murder.

Three "Rubbed Out"

After three members of the gang were "rubbed out" by gunfire in the Collingwood Manor apartments Fleisher was one of those named by an informant in the killing but the witness against him vanished.

When the Linbergh baby was kidnapped, Fleisher offered to find the baby, return it to its parents if Michigan authorities would free three "purples" serving sentences for the Collingwood killings. The offer was turned down.

The peak of the gang's activities was reached when they collected tribute on all sugar sold in the Detroit area, ran a fleet of rowboats which brought liquor from Canada, collected tribute from dyers and tailors and controlled the race wires into Detroit.

When repeal of prohibition cut into the source of their income, Fleisher was tons in the gang, but police had nothing to pin on him in spite of his long record. It was luck that brought the final showdown.

The trail ended at a warehouse on Federal street, Detroit, where agents of the alcohol tax unit had followed a truckload of sugar. Two men were placed on guard outside. Two market baskets apparently dumped carelessly on the ground alongside a solid wall, suddenly moved. A hole showed where the baskets had been and there a head emerged. "All clear," a voice said, and a man climbed into the arms of the waiting officer. Another followed him.

While one man held the prisoners the other investigated the hole which led to a tunnel and finally to a hidden place at the back of the warehouse which filled three floors, had three stills, six electric motors, huge cookers, mixing vats, fermenting tanks, condensers, 40,000 gallons of mash, 40,500 pounds of sugar and various other supplies. It was a $100,000 distillery.

Harry Fleisher came while the officers were investigating a garage filled with materials for packing and shipping the alcohol.

He was caught and, with his brother Sammy Fleisher and three others, sentenced to eight years and fined a total of $80,000 for conspiracy to violate the Internal Revenue Laws.

The Fleishers were released from Alcatraz in 1940, their terms reduced for good behavior.

Selik, third of the Purples now facing murder conspiracy charges, was sentenced to 6 to 12 years at the Michigan reformatory in November, 1931, following the holdup of a Detroit handbook.

WRITES HOME FROM GERMANY

Pfc. Reg. Christensen
Gives Vivid Picture
Of War Scenes

The triumphant advance of the American armed forces into Germany is vividly related by Pfc. Reg. Christensen in a letter recently received by his mother, Mrs. P. Christensen.

The letter, written, "Across the Rhine" on April 17, says, in part: "It won't be long now before we meet the Russians. Everyone is anxiously waiting for that eventful day when Eisenhower announces the final count of the knockout of Germany. . . . One of the most striking things about our advance is the overwhelming joy shown by the French, Russian, Pole and other slave laborers who are at last free. . . . They wave to us and rush out from their barbed wire grounds and shout 'Vive les Americains.' . . . Long lines of these laborers line the roads, heading west, they are hurrying to get out of the country they hate and the people they despise. . . . There are young girls and old women loaded with packs of huge size. . . . one old lady hobbling along with a pile of stuff on her back and on her feet were nothing but plain, bare feet, which looked tough for she was stout and healthy looking, even though you could see signs of hunger in her old, experienced face. . . . Occasionally an English speaking refugee passes and tells his experiences—of the whippings he has had, of the bread and water diet he had to live on because he wouldn't work 18 hours a day. . . . One day I saw a group of Russian slave laborers resting along the road. . . . one fellow was stripped to the waist and his body was welled like a battered washboard. He told a Polish speaking buddy that the Germans had killed his father because he refused to work repairing railroads. . . . I believe I have told you enough of the cruelty of the Nazis. At first I doubted a lot of the stuff I read, but not now. I have seen the results and have heard from the lips of the tortured. . . . You should see the larger cities. Nothing remains but dust and pulverized brick. Not so long ago I saw Hanover, a city with a population of about half a million—about the same size as Milwaukee. Some English speaking German approached us: 'Isn't it a pity—all these ruins!' One of the fellows with me said: 'Pity? Hell no! It's beautiful. What did you do to the Poles, Czechs and others?'"

Realization of this came to us last Sunday afternoon as we rode along Highway M-94 and came upon sights which many local residents would note with a shrug of their shoulders but which people from other parts of the country would gaze at in open-mouthed wonder.

For instance, porcupines are common enough. Certainly no Schoolcraft county resident would stop his car to gaze at the chubby one we saw feasting on buds high up on a poplar tree. Many a Chicago, Milwaukee or Peoria resident however, would have deemed it a well spent day if he and his children could have been present to view that novel sight.

And what would have been their wonderment, if they, like we, had come upon tracks in the sand such as we saw leading down to Colwell lake! We recognized one set as those of a bear, another as those of a deer, and there were others we were unable to classify.

And while we stood there, checking up on the tracks and viewing our charming surroundings, we suddenly became aware of a far off clanging noise that sounded not unlike the barking of a pack of excited dogs. We thought at first that there might be a fox farm near by and that it was feeding time. Then, as the bedlam became more distinct, it took on the nature of a fiber-jabber with which we were somewhat familiar. We looked up and there—sure enough—winging toward us in a fine-lined V, was a flock of Canadian honkers, heading north. There must have been at least a hundred of them.

And in the few minutes spent in that same spot we saw several chipmunks, a woodchuck, several pine warblers, a yellowhammer, a nuthatch and three or four wild ducks—creatures common enough in these parts but objects of wonderment to the average summer tourist.

We are still enough of a neophyte to be enchanted by these sights and sounds. We made many stops along the way to make a better acquaintance with the creatures we happened upon. We even gasped in astonishment at the sight of a young eagle perched atop a tall pine snag.

But what we talked about the most when we recounted the day's experience, was the doe we saw crashing through the brush. She evidently had a fawn secreted near there because her crazy antics were definitely meant to attract attention to herself. We stopped the car and watched and she stood perfectly still and watched us. Then Toddy, our Scotty pooch, let out a yip. Up went her flag and away she went, only to reappear and stand and stare at us. She was still staring when we drove away.

As we have intimated before, our Sunday afternoon experience wouldn't sound so hot in a lure book. The region we traversed is not to be compared with such show places as the Big Spring, Indian Lake or Blaney Park. But we are here to tell you—because we know—that people living in regions not so blessed are willing to travel a long way and to pay good money to see—and to have their children see—Upper Michigan's unbarbered wildness and the creatures that make it their home.

Off The Chest ...

BY JAY ARRELL

Collecting travel literature has been a hobby of ours for the past several years. Whenever we see an ad playing up the virtues of any state, national park, foreign country or resort district and the invitation is extended to "write for illustrated booklet," we accept that invitation. The result has been an impressive collection of folders, booklets and typographical maps.

And of all this collection of high quality printing there is nothing which quite comes up to the Upper Michigan Lure Book. We were impressed with this fact long before we ever thought that this area would some day be our home. And strange as it may seem, the more we have become acquainted with this region, the more the book appeals to us. Our copy has become badly frayed from much perusal.

Yet in spite of the able way in which the beauties and advantages of this area are played up, the Lure Book does not—cannot—do full justice to the subject. There are many impressive things to see which cannot be impressively described.

Realization of this came to us last Sunday afternoon as we rode along Highway M-94 and came upon sights which many local residents would note with a shrug of their shoulders but which people from other parts of the country would gaze at in open-mouthed wonder.

LOCAL RESIDENT IN BIG NEWS

Capt. L. A. Silvernail,
War Prisoner, Once
Lived Here

Many local residents have been wondering, since reading a certain big feature article in last Sunday's news, whether the Capt. Lyle A. Silvernail, a released prisoner held by the Nazis, who was responsible for the story, was the Lyle A. Silvernail, who had charge of a CCC camp in this vicinity. Investigation proved that he was.

Mrs. Ed Jackson, who corresponds with Capt. Silvernail's wife, made inquiry and was told that he was the same man featured in the news.

According to the newspaper story Silvernail said that while he was a prisoner he was questioned by a group of Nazi officers who told him they were convinced that Germany had lost the war. They sounded him out on American ideas and he told them that if they "wanted to save Germany they had better get some one in authority to get in touch with Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters and ask for terms, and accept them, whatever they were."

"I was told later in other quarters," Silvernail said, "that an armistice was requested on one sector of the western front to enable the Germans to contact Eisenhower's headquarters on peace terms and that the German army commander telephoned Hitler recommending acceptance and Hitler turned him down. I was told that the German commander then went personally to Berlin and that after Hitler rejected his advice a second time, the German commander killed himself. Whether this is true I do not know, I am uncertain which commander it was."

Notice—LaFolles' Ladies' league annual bowling party will be held Wednesday evening, May 9. All substitutes are invited. All members that plan to attend, should contact their team captain or Elsie Kasun on or before Monday.

Audience

Advertised as the premier musical event of the school year, the high school band concert at the school auditorium, Friday evening, was in every way in keeping with its promises.

It was the type of entertainment which music lovers enjoy and the varied nature of it was such that would find appreciation among those of widely varied tastes.

There were old world melodies, popular marches, gems from the classics and harmonies from the most impressive of sacred music. Particularly well received were the accordion duets by Steve Borko and Robert Anderson; the trombone solo by Raymond Norberg; saxophone sextette number by Mary Lee Stevens, Joan Sheahan, George Rasmussen, Dan Van Eyck, William Mueller, and Nadyne Westin; a piano solo by Margaret Burgess, and the band's rendition of the "Poet and Peasant Overture."

Near the close of the program, Prof. Joseph Giovannini, school band director, presented letter awards to six members of the organization who have long been active in the band and who are soon to graduate. The students so honored were Arthur Fountain, Dawn Van Eyck, Vernon O'Neill, James Olesak, Laole LaMourie and Bernetta Weber. Arthur Fountain, has already entered the armed service and his award was given by proxy. Miss Van Eyck, vice president of the class, presented Mr. Giovannini with a gift.

The concert was favored with a large audience.

BUILD WEATHER STATION HERE

Will Operate Under
U. S. Department Of Commerce

A weather bureau station recording temperatures and precipitation has been set up on city hall property with Fire Chief Elmer Boal in charge as custodian. Oscar Kilinen from the Chicago weather bureau office made the installation and the station will serve as a part of the U. S. Weather Bureau of the National Department of Commerce. It will be known as a cooperative weather station.

Reading will be made each day at 5 o'clock when the high and low temperatures, along with precipitation will be recorded and the results sent to the weather bureau at Lansing.

This equipment was formerly stationed at the Charles Matchinske farm, but was moved to town in order to make the information concerning weather more easily available.

The grounds on which the equipment has been installed will be fenced and green swarded and will greatly improve the appearance of its surroundings.

Tigers Shut Out By Browns, 5-0; Cubs Whip Champion Cards, 5-1

BLOWS BUNCHED ON DIZZY TROUT

Homer By Stephens Is First Off Detroit Staff This Year

BY FRANK KENESSON

Detroit, May 5 (AP)—Pitching four-hit ball in his first full nine-inning mound job of the season, Jack Kramer shut out the Detroit Tigers 5 to 0 today as the St. Louis Browns bunched four extra-base hits for four of their runs off Paul (Dizzy) Trout in the fourth inning.

Vern Stephens, Brownie shortstop, opened the big inning with a homer into the right field seats, his third of the year. It was the first circuit blow off Detroit pitching this season.

Trout, giving seven hits, suffered his first defeat after winning his third of the year.

Rain interrupted play for 20 minutes at the end of the eighth inning.

Stephens' homer with nobody on base, Ed Borom's error of George McQuinn's grounder and doubles by Myron Hayworth, Kramer and Milt Byrnes salted away the decision for the Browns in the fourth.

McQuinn walked in the eighth, took second on Trout's balk and scored the fifth St. Louis run on Hayworth's single to right.

Manager Back

Kramer was never in serious trouble, though Edie Mayo doubled to lead off the Tiger fourth and took third after Gene Moore's catch of Roy Cullenbine's fly.

Rudy York fanned and Roger Cramer popped to Stephens to end the inning.

Don Guttridge, St. Louis second baseman, saw no action because of soreness in his side.

Manager Steve O'Neill of the Tigers, returning after a hospital siege with the gout, was in the dugout for the first time since opening day.

The shutout was the third suffered this season by the Tigers, who now have only 10 hits to show for their last three games.

Kramer, batted out of the box in his first appearance against Detroit two weeks ago, faced only 32 batters in recording the shutout.

Of Detroit's four hits Mayo got two—one for two bases—and York and Bob Swift each had one.

Kramer walked but one man and struck out four.

Clean-up spot: Hal Newhouser and Al Benton were Steve O'Neill's pitching choices to oppose Sig Jakucki and Newman Shirley of the Browns in Sunday's doubleheader. A crowd of 3,354 paying fans, 1,173 high school and sandlot players admitted free and 261 servicemen saw the game. The amateur baseballers attended a diamond clinic at Briggs stadium during the morning. Ellis Clary, St. Louis third baseman, was spiked in the hand tagging out York in the second inning but remained in the game following first aid treatment.

Golf Gold Diggers Shoot for $250,000

BY JERRY LISKA

Chicago, May 5 (AP)—Goldfingers' swing-for-swing brigade this summer will shoot for approximately $250,000 worth of war bond prizes in 16 major events, including the game's most lucrative meet—the $60,000 Tam O'Shanter open here, July 26-29.

The Professional Golfers' association today announced a summer schedule which offers almost $100,000 more in prizes than last year's 11-meet program.

Dates definitely were set for 11 events, while a Pacific northwest tour—touching at Spokane, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and Vancouver—was scheduled without specific dates from late September through October.

The Summer's Golden Trail for such sharpshooters as Byron Nelson, Harold (Jug) McSpade, and Sam Snead, begins June 7-10 with the Montreal open.

The previously announced P. G. A. championships to be held at the Moraine Country Club, Dayton, Ohio, July 9-15 will spotlight a battle for the undefeatable crown of champion Bob Hamilton, recently inducted into the armed forces.

The Lush Tam O'Shanter open, sponsored by George S. May, the golf-loving engineer with the many-colored shirts, pays off with $60,000 worth of war bonds or $43,000 in hard cash. Last year it dangled merely $42,500 in war bonds or $30,100 in cash.

The next most profitable event—the P. G. A. championships—will post a prize melon of $26,600 in war bonds or $20,000 in cash.

The program includes the St. Paul open, July 18-22, while the Chicago open at Toronto is scheduled for Aug. 2-5.

Ed Dudley, P. G. A. president, has requested all tournament sponsors to donate net proceeds to the Association's Rehabilitation Fund for disabled veterans and to set aside May 26-27 as National P. G. A. Rehabilitation days during which proceeds from club tournaments will be pledged to local rehabilitation programs.

On these dates, Nelson and Snead, who finished one-two as winter tour money-winners, will tangle in a 72-hole challenge match with 36 holes to be played at Fresh Meadow Club, Long Island, N. Y., and 36 at Essex Country Club, N. J.

The summer schedule, war bond value in parentheses.

Iscemere Golf and Country Club, Montreal, $10,000 ($13,333); June 14-17—Philadelphia Inquirer Invitational, Lynbrook Country Club, $13,125 ($17,500); June 23-25—Chicago Victory Invitational open ($12,300); July 9-15—P. G. A. Championship, Moraine Country Club, Dayton, Ohio, $20,000 ($26,600); July 18-22—St. Paul open, $7,500 ($10,000).

July 26-29—Tam O'Shanter open, Chicago, $43,000 ($60,000); Aug. 2-5—reserved for Toronto open; Aug. 16-19—Memphis, Tenn. open, $10,000 ($13,333); Aug. 22-26—Knoxville, Tenn. open, $10,000 ($13,333); Aug. 31-Sept. 3—Nashville, Tenn. open, $10,000 ($13,333); Sept. 6-9—Dallas Country Club, Dallas, Tex., $10,000 ($13,333).

The Pacific Northwest tour will have an aggregate purse of $50,000 in war bonds.

Murder Story Nipped

Sault Ste Marie—A mystery novel, "Murder on the Soo Locks," was nipped in the bud by police at 5:25 p. m. Wednesday, when they received a call that a man was about to commit suicide in the canal at the Ashmun street bridge.

Responding to the call, police found LeRoy C. Wilcox, 19-year-old sailor, with his coat off, on the bank of the canal. He told the officers he had gone there to read a book.

He had been discharged from his boat to receive medical attention here for a nervous condition, he said, and police took him to the hospital, where he was expected.

He carried a notebook in which he had started a murder story. He was a fiction writer, he said, and was going to put the Sault "on the map" with his story about the locks.

TWIN BILL CANCELLED

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 5 (AP)—Michigan's baseball doubleheader with Minnesota was cancelled today because of rain, depriving the two top candidates for the Big Ten championship of their only scheduled meeting this season.

The games were not reset for any future date.

Reindeer in Canada and Alaska are usually brown and grey in color.

lifting of the ban after V-E day. Nominations for the derby closed April 25, and it is still probably that the event will be held this year. About a month will be required to complete the arrangements for the historic event, if, as and when.

Racing interests are feeling the pinch of the ban more and more as time goes on and no money comes in. There are about 6,000 horses in training at a cost of $7 per day, another 6,000 runners costing $3 per day for upkeep, plus 20,000 stallions, mares, weanlings and yearlings on farms, all eating plenty of hay—and nothing coming in. The ban on racing has been estimated to cost the horse racing owners about $5,000,000 per month, which includes purses that horsemen would have received but didn't get due to the blackout. Track managers have been footing the bill on a loan basis—wherever necessary, in order to keep the situation in hand until better days arrive.

Baseball interests are beginning to kick up quite a fuss because some ball players have been inducted into the army, even though they cannot meet the minimum requirements for military service.

A case in point is that of Danny Litwhiler, of the Cards. Some ball players have been lowered under the provisions for lowered physical standards and are assigned to military service, but not general military service, which means that they are not to be trained as combat troops. Baseball men are charging discrimination, although many other draft registrants also have been drafted under this provision. Several have been included in this category from Delta county, although there are no professional ball players registered with the local board. In general, men who left essential industries are subject to this rule, even though they may have been 4-F.

The whole thing came about when certain governmental authorities, including Paul McNutt, of the WMC, ruled that ballplayers could leave essential jobs to return to their principal occupation, playing ball—without the necessity of getting a WMC referral.

This left the impression that baseball received a governmental green light and so the exodus from war plants to baseball diamonds began.

Then the draft boards, who were operating under all together different directives, began picking off the ball players right and left for both general and limited military service.

Crew Exonerated In Attack On Girl

Police Chief Frank Chase made the following statement to the Press exonerating members of the crew of the Coast Guard cutter Woodruff that docked here Sunday evening to pick up navigational buoys.

On Sunday evening April 29 two girls were attacked by a sailor on W. Munising avenue in back of the Lincoln school. Their car had become stalled and when the father of one of the girls got out to fix it a sailor jumped into the back seat and tried to attack the girls.

When the girls screamed the father swung at the sailor and cut his lip. In the scuffling the sailor started to run and couldn't be caught.

The police were notified and the man wasn't to be found. Police presumed he got into a car and left town. In the investigation the crew of the Woodruff were all checked and none of them fit the description of the sailor.

BATS EASE JOB FOR DERRINGER

St. Louis Starter Chased Off Mound With 4 Runs On 4 Hits

St. Louis, May 5. (AP)—The second place Chicago Cubs gave pitcher Paul Derringer his fourth victory of the season against no defeats by whipping the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, 5 to 1, in the opening game of their three-game series today.

The Cubs made it easy for their big right-hander by batting Ted Wilks, Cardinal starting pitcher off the mound with four runs on four hits in three innings while Derringer spaced out the Cards' eight hits so effectively that he never was in trouble.

The champions' score came on Johnny Hopp's homer to the roof of the right field pavilion in the first inning. It was the first circuit blow for a Cardinal player this year.

After Wilks was relieved, Manager Billy Southworth tried three other hurlers and two pinch hitters in an attempt to get the champions back into the game but without even a slight trace of a rally.

Ishpeming—There will be no stoppage of production in Marquette range iron mines when the V-E proclamation is broadcast. Word, however, will be sent into the drift and stoppage so that those who have started steel on its way to the Victory front will know, as soon as possible, when the tidings come.

There will be a moment of silence in the workings, as men give thought to those who have served and fallen to make V-E day possible.

MENTAL NEEDS OF CHILD TOLD

Dr. Hartwell Addresses
Hygiene Conference
In Marquette

Helping a child to understand himself prevents more serious types of social failure, when he becomes an adult, it was asserted at Marquette Friday by Dr. Samuel W. Hartwell, psychiatrist and director of the Grand Valley Children's center, Grand Rapids, principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Mental Hygiene association.

"Mental Hygiene in Every-Day Life" was Dr. Hartwell's topic and he told his audience conflicts in the early life of a child usually account for difficulties in later years.

There are certain "basic securities," he pointed out, a child adopts from experiences of other persons, which are valuable assets to his individual life and securities for good mental health.

Children Must Learn To Do
"A child first needs feeling of ability to do something," Dr. Hartwell said. "He must learn how to be civilized and like it. All the way through, life becomes more difficult, with more problems arising. The child must develop a feeling of capability."

"Secondly, a child must possess a feeling of being loved, of 'belonging.' He must be able to get along with a variety of people."

"And third, the child must be instilled with a feeling of self-acceptance, worthiness."

Many children passing through the juvenile courts, Dr. Hartwell stated, are in those predicaments because they were not understood when younger and because of the absence of the basic securities.

"All social problems," he asserted, "may some day be solved by overcoming feelings of inadequacy. The problems rest basically in attitudes."

The executive committee of the Center is composed of Carroll C. Rushton, chairman; Roy R. Derham, vice-chairman; the Rt. Rev. Joseph L. Zryd, secretary; Ernest L. Pearce, treasurer; Gilbert L. Brown, Elba L. Morse, M. Cooperstock, M. D.; Mrs. Frank B. Spear and W. M. Whitman, the last three being appointive members of the committee.

Mrs. A. W. Erickson and Probate Judge William J. Miller of Escanaba are Delta county members of the association's advisory council.

Killed On Luzon

Iron Mountain—Sgt. Carl M. Johnson, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Johnson, Felch, was killed in action April 11 on Luzon, his parents were informed by the war department. He is the 113th man from the county to die in service since the outbreak of war.

In a letter dated April 8, Sgt. Johnson told his parents he was then in a rest camp. "I wish I could stay here for a while," he said. He was killed three days after writing the letter.

Sgt. Johnson, who served in the Infantry, was born May 18, 1921, in Felch. He attended school there and, at the time he entered the service, was working in Chicago.
